

In today's Gospel reading, we find another discussion between Jesus and his opponents, this time the Pharisees. It centres on which of the commandments is the greatest.

Matthew agrees with Mark that love of God and love of neighbour constitute the chief and basic commandment; that this is, in a way, a summary of the entire Torah. But Matthew goes further: he puts these two commandments on an equal footing, and presents them as supporting the rest. He uses the verb "hang" to express the idea of these two being the ropes which hold up the rest. His reply is perfectly orthodox, and Jewish Christians would be able to defend themselves on this basis.

Matthew shows that permeating religious practice must be love: love of God and our fellow human beings, and that both are equally important. In a sense, this is his version of the Golden Rule. ■

REFLECT

Matthew the evangelist is usually understood as being a tax collector, called by Jesus to leave his profession and become one of Jesus' disciples. This traditional view has been expressed in art down the centuries. It may well be the historical fact, but it is unlikely that someone from such a background could have produced such a scholarly work, which we know as the Gospel according to Matthew: it betrays too deep a knowledge of the Jewish scriptures. There is another possibility about his identity, that he was, in fact, a convert Jewish scribe, "who brings out from his storeroom things both new and old" (Matthew 13:52 may offer this description of the author of the Gospel).

To Jewish converts, the place of the Law, which they had regarded as their way of responding to the Lord's covenant with Israel, must have been a question of the highest importance. By the time Matthew is writing, the Temple has been destroyed, the political influence of the Jewish people in the land has disappeared, and the Law has provided the core of their sense of identity. Does this have to be, at best, abandoned, or, at worst, repudiated because they have accepted Jesus and his message? The answer of the earliest disciples seems to have been "No", as they continued to frequent the Temple. Although there was eventually an official excommunication of Jewish Christians from the synagogue, it is likely that Jewish traditions continued to influence communities such as Matthew's. The lesson that love of God and neighbour should be the force which informs all the outward observing of our own traditions today, that there is no essential conflict between law and love, is as valid today as it was when Matthew wrote his Gospel. ■

SAY

The greatest commandment is to love God and my neighbour.

LEARN

The rabbis calculated 613 commandments in the Torah: 248 positive and 365 negative.

After the destruction of the Temple and the end of animal sacrifice, observing the Law took on even greater significance in Jewish life than before.

Not all the commandments were of equal weight: some were classified as "heavy" (more important), others as "light" (less so).

DO

Reflect that when you come to celebrate the Eucharist, you are supporting your fellow parishioners as well as expressing your commitment to the Lord.

Fratelli tutti is the title Pope Francis has chosen for his encyclical letter dedicated to "human fraternity" and "social friendship". In English, it can be read as 'All Brothers', 'Brethren all' or 'Brothers and sisters all'. The first words of the new 'circular letter', or encyclical as we know it, come from St Francis of Assisi. <https://catholicnews.us6.list-manage.com/track/click?u=8bfb372c271fbad8a971552fb&id=d1814557fa&e=d5cb67f88d>

Feast and Memorial Days

Feast 26th October St Chad, a 7th century priest, monk and bishop, served in Lichfield for just two-and-a-half years. But his heroic virtues have left an impact on that part of the West Midlands that has lasted for centuries, with more than 30 churches dedicated to the saint's honour and as well as several wells and the cathedral church of the Archdiocese of Birmingham.

He was one of four brothers who all became priests, and two of them - Chad and St Cedd - became bishops. They were Angles by race and were born in the kingdom of Northumbria, training at Lindisfarne under St Aidan. St Chad went to Ireland after the death of St Aidan and spent several years working with St Egbert but was called back to England by his elder brother, Cedd, to be Abbot of Lastingham, near Whitby, Yorkshire.

Within a year he was summoned by King Oswy to become Bishop of York and was ordained in the province of the West Saxons, then immediately and strenuously devoted himself to the teaching of ecclesiastical truth and purity of doctrine. He gave great attention to the practices of self-denial, humility and study and would emulate the Apostles by travelling through the towns and villages of his diocese on foot, rather than on horseback, preaching the Gospel as he went.

When Theodore, the new Archbishop of Canterbury, arrived in England in 669 he decided that St Chad's episcopal ordination was irregular and gave his See to Wilfrid. The response of St Chad was one of humble acceptance which so impressed St Theodore that he made St Chad the Bishop of Mercia on the death of Jaruman.

After his consecration, St Chad moved the seat of the diocese from Repton to Lichfield and King Wulfhere gave him land on which to found a monastery. By the church in Lichfield St Chad also built a house of retreat, in which he would spend his leisure time with the seven or eight monks who settled there. St Chad died in Lichfield on 2nd March 672 after an illness which lasted seven days and after receiving the final sacraments of the Church.

The Diocese of Shrewsbury covers land formerly belonging to the old Diocese of Lichfield, established by St Chad, and the Diocese of Hereford. St Chad's red cross is incorporated into the Shrewsbury diocesan heraldic crest.

Some of St Chad's relics are in the cathedral of his name in Birmingham and a 7th century manuscript, known as St Chad's Gospel, is preserved in Lichfield cathedral library.

New Guidelines for attending Mass at St Anne's during Covid 19 Restrictions

The Masses will be celebrated at the following times:

Saturday 6.30 pm
Sunday 9.30 am
Tuesday 10.00 am
Thursday 10.00 am

Numbers inside the church will be limited to approximately 52 people or maybe a few more depending on "household" attendees who can sit together. We urge you to please come to a weekday Mass, if you can, so that those who are working during the week can attend on Saturday or Sunday. Once the capacity of the church has been reached, people will be invited to stand outside or sit outside on chairs which they have brought with them. The doors and windows will be open. Please maintain 2 m apart wherever possible.

- The wearing of a face covering is compulsory inside church as we are now socially-distancing at 1 metre plus in seating areas. Please provide your own face covering where possible but these are also available in church.
- Please sanitise your hands on entry - bring your own if you can but hand sanitiser is available in church.
- If you have downloaded the NHS Track and Trace app to your phone, you can now scan the QR code which is on the doors in the entrance hall, instead of giving your name to the steward.
- The church doors will not open until 15 minutes before Mass is due to start. Mass may start a little late if entry to church takes longer than we anticipate. Please do not enter the sacristy for any reason.
- Toilets are closed
- There is a one-way system inside church and not all benches and chairs are in use so please follow the signs and instructions from the stewards.
- Signed Mass cards are available near the entrance. Please do not bring food or drink to church. If necessary, a non-twist top bottle of water may be used. All Newsletters and other items collected in church must be taken away and not left behind.
- Please make your weekly offering as you enter church, collection points will be signposted. There will also be collection points at the exits.
- Holy Communion will be distributed by one minister: either the celebrant or an extraordinary minister of Communion from a single point. This will be after the Dismissal. Instructions for receiving Holy Communion will be given and the stewards will direct you. Although the celebration of Mass will be slightly shorter than usual, it will take longer to exit the church so please be patient. Those who have been outside will be invited to receive Holy Communion after those in church. Anybody with mobility difficulties should remain in their seats and Holy Communion will be brought to them once the church is empty. Please also sanitise your hands as you leave.

At the conclusion of the Eucharist Prayer the priest recites the doxology, Per Ipsum, "Through him, and with him, and in him, O God, almighty Father, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, all glory and honour is yours, for ever and ever" words we can look forward to inspiring us once more before joining in responding the great Amen. Deo gratia.

FIRST READING

Exodus 22:20-26

A reading from the book of Exodus.

The Lord said to Moses, "Tell the sons of Israel this, 'You must not molest the stranger or oppress him, for you lived as strangers in the land of Egypt. You must not be harsh with the widow, or with the orphan; if you are harsh with them, they will surely cry out to me, and be sure I shall hear their cry: my anger will flare and I shall kill you with the sword, your own wives will be widows, your own children orphans.

"If you lend money to any of my people, to any poor man among you, you must not play the usurer with him: you must not demand interest from him.

"If you take another's cloak as a pledge, you must give it back to him before sunset. It is all the covering he has; it is the cloak he wraps his body in; what else would he sleep in? If he cries to me, I will listen, for I am full of pity."

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

PSALM

Psalm 17

Response:

I love you, Lord, my strength.

- I love you, Lord, my strength,
my rock, my fortress, my saviour.
My God is the rock where I take refuge;
my shield, my mighty help, my stronghold.

The Lord is worthy of all praise:
when I call I am saved from my foes. (R.)

- Long life to the Lord, my rock!
Praised be the God who saves me.
He has given great victories to his king and shown his love for his anointed. (R.)

SECOND READING 1 Thessalonians 1:5-10

A reading from the first letter of St Paul to the Thessalonians.

You observed the sort of life we lived when we were with you, which was for your instruction, and you were led to become imitators of us, and of the Lord; and it was with the joy of the Holy Spirit that you took to the gospel, in spite of the great opposition all round you. This has made you the great example to all believers in Macedonia and Achaia since it was from you that the word of the Lord started to spread – and not only throughout Macedonia and Achaia, for the news of your faith in God has spread everywhere. We do not need to tell other people about it: other people tell us how we started the work among you, how you broke with idolatry when you were converted to God and became servants of the real, living God; and how you are now waiting for Jesus, his Son, whom he raised from the dead, to come from heaven to save us from the retribution which is coming.

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

Alleluia, alleluia!
Open our heart, O Lord,
to accept the words of your Son.
Alleluia!

GOSPEL

Matthew 22:34-40

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew.

When the Pharisees heard that Jesus had silenced the Sadducees they got together and, to disconcert him, one of them put a question, "Master, which is the greatest commandment of the Law?" Jesus said, "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the greatest and the first commandment. The second resembles it: you must love your neighbour as yourself. On these two commandments hang the whole Law, and the Prophets also."

The Gospel of the Lord.
Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.
